The Attica and Buffalo Rail Road.—This road will form the last western link in the chain of rail roads from Albany to Buffalo, the first or eastern link of which to Utica, is in active operation. The other portions are all clearly defined. Attica is near the center of the county of Genesee, 30 miles directly east of Buffalo. The whole elevation from the Tonawanda to the Buffalo summit is only 80 feet; the greatest ascent per mile is 35 feet for two miles only; the rest is from 30 feet per mile to a level. The charter is very liberal: goods and freight are to be carried at all seasons without restriction as to canal duties. The cost will be cheap, not over from $6000 to $7000 per mile, including everything for a single track and necessary turnouts, which with the rich country and great thoroughfares of the commerce of the west in the tract of which it lies, together with the fact that there are no other lines of rail roads in the vicinity, and that most of the owners of the land residing on the route, have already given written releases to the land for the use of the road, are sure to make stock in this road a profitable investment. The following is an extract from the report of the Engineer.

On leaving the village of Attica, for the first two miles, which brought me to the summit, the whole rise that must be surmounted is eight feet, passing up a small stream, or rather ravine, on almost one regular inclined plane. This may, however, be reduced by extending the plane a greater length, by cutting through near the summit as to reduce it to a rise of about thirty-five feet to the mile, or it may be lengthened to a distance of two miles, and around the rise in a shorter or longer distance as may be thought best, yet not materially affect the expense of grading.

From the summit westerly to Alden, I find almost one perfect inclined plane, falling from twenty to thirty feet to the mile, a distance of two or three miles. From Alden to Rochester, we pass along the valley of a creek, a distance of eleven miles with no material obstruction, gradually descending a part of the way, while other parts of the route we run on a level to the village of Lancaster, where we have to cross a stream, which will require bridging or embanking a distance of two hundred feet. From Lancaster to Buffalo, a distance of about ten miles, the present surface of the ground is almost sufficiently graded for laying timbers for the road, and it is nearly a level. On the whole, it is an advantageous one, and indeed more advantageous than can be found in most sections of this vicinity. The whole amount of grading will not exceed about one hundred to one thousand dollars per mile; and even one-half the distance may be graded for less than half that sum. All of which is respectfully submitted.

JAMES BALDWIN, Engineer.
The Tonawanda Rail-road which runs from Rochester to Attica, will be completed early in the next summer, a distance of about 41 miles, so that the whole distance from Rochester to Buffalo over these roads, will not exceed 72 miles. Should the stock of the Attica and Buffalo road be readily taken, the whole may be finished within one year from the first of September next. The books will close this afternoon, at 3 o'clock, at the Farmer's Loan and Trust Co's office.

Rock Island City.—It appears by the following article from the Galena Advertiser, that a town is about being built at the junction of Rock Island with the Mississippi, decidedly one of the most important locations in the Wisconsin Territory. We know the place well, and as the whole length of Rock River must necessarily be navigated by a smaller species of boats than those in use on the Mississippi, this new city must become the place of depot for the greater part of the commerce of Wisconsin.—Ed. Cour. & Eng.

From the Galena Advertiser.

"ROCK ISLAND CITY."

This is the name of a new town, now being surveyed into lots, on and below the Rapids, at the mouth of Rock River, Rock Island county, in this state. There are many peculiar and interesting facts connected with this town site, other than its great commercial, agricultural, and manufacturing facilities. It is situated on a point of land between Rock River and the Mississippi, to the rapids. It is on this site that Black Hawk and his fathers lived for more than a hundred years. It is here, where the bones of hundreds of chiefs, and thousands of warriors of the Sac Nation, sleep in the dust and whiten the ground. This ground, for more than a century, supplied this Nation of Braves and their families, with corn, and their horses and cattle with pasture; and this was the Indian village, so dear and invaluable to Black Hawk and his people, that he and they recently preferred hazarding the certain calamities of a war with the United States, rather than yield it up to the possession of the whites. Indeed this is the very place to obtain possession of which, cost the American people one million and a half of dollars, and sixty-four lives. These are a few of the interesting facts connected with "Rock Island City."

It is also situated in the centre of the most healthy and fertile section of the West—commanding an almost illimitable extent of inland commerce up Rock river and down the Mississippi, and the great advantage of a water power inexhaustible, and easily available. Coal is here obtained in great abundance, which will not only cheapen and facilitate manufacturing, but will become a leading article of commerce, in a country like this, where timber is scarce.

The purchase of about 600 acres was recently made by Levi C. Turner, Esq., of Oswego County, New York, and others, of George Davenport, Esq., of Rock Island. Mr. Davenport, however, still retains an interest; and we are happy to learn has reserved a public square, in the centre of which is to be entombed the scattered bones of the Sac chiefs and warriors, and a suitable monument to their memory, erected at his own expense. In this age of city making and speculation, we know of no place more peculiar and interesting in its history, or commanding and desirable in its location.

By The Rev. Mr. SWEET, of the Universalist Denomination, proposes to preach at Centreville, on Sunday the fourth day of September next, at 10 A. M. and 3 P. M.

FIRE!! FIRE!! FIRE!!!—PROTECTION INSURANCE COMPANY. C. K. The course of office pursued in transacting their business, and in the adjusting and payment of losses, is prompt and liberal. NOTICE is hereby given, that application will be made to the next legislature of Michigan, for a charter to a company authorizing the construction of a Rail-Road, from Tecumseh and Adrian, to unite at a suitable point westward; thence through the southern counties of Michigan to New-Buffalo, with a branch diverging at a suitable point running to the north line of Indiana, in the direction of Michigan City. White Pigeon, Aug. 24, 1836.

ELIAS BOLTON SMITH, M. D. ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW, AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY, AND GENERAL LAND AGENT, for Indiana and Michigan: Village of Lima, county seat of Lagrange County, Indiana.—Office, south of the Court House, fronting the public square, Toledo Street. Aug. 24, 1836.

VALUABLE SCHOOL BOOKS.—THE AMERICAN CLASS READER: containing a series of lessons in Reading; with Introductory Exercises in Articulation, Inflection, Emphasis, and the other essential elements of correct natural Elocution; designed for Academies and common Schools. By GEORGE WILSON, formerly Principal of the Canandaigua Academy, and late Principal of the Livingston Co. High School.

The design of the American Class-reader, is to teach scholars to read. It is not sufficient for this purpose, that a book be instructive and entertaining, and these selections classic and classical in point of diction; it should be also properly adapted to exercise the reader in all the varied tones, inflections, and other requisites that belong to correct elocution.

Four lessons are inserted without punctuation. These will furnish tests of the degree of intelligence, and of attention to the sense, with which the pupil reads. They may also be used in teaching punctuation, and the use of capitals.

A considerable number of lessons have been selected from the Bible. Apart from the importance and value of its divine instructions, the Sacred Scriptures abound in passages unrivalled in natural impressive eloquence, and admirably adapted to the purposes of improvement in elocution. In what is called rhetorical dialogue, selections can no where else be found at all comparable. A PRACTICAL AND THEORETICAL SYSTEM OF ARITHMETIC, containing several new methods of operation, and a new system of Proportion; with Theoretical explanations of all the principal rules. Also, a treatise on Mensuration, and a brief practical system of Book-keeping. By the author of the American Class Reader.

[This system of Arithmetic is designed for the most advanced pupils in common Schools and Academies. It does not attempt to combine mental arithmetic with the use of the slate, nor to unite in one book a treatise for children of six, and for youths of sixteen years old. In mental arithmetic, every thing that could be desired, has been done by Colburn whose admirable little work is now so generally used and highly appreciated throughout the United States.]

CASANDUAGA, JULY 1, 1836.

Mr. Morse:
Sir—Having carefully examined "The American Class-Reader," by GEORGE WILSON, I hesitate not to express my opinion decidedly in its favor; because I deem it a work exactly in its selections, classical in point of diction, and admirably calculated to assist youth in becoming correct readers. I hope that it will be universally adopted in our schools.

I have also examined your "Practical and Theoretical Arithmetic," by the same author, containing several new methods of operation, and a new system of proportion; and hesitate not to say, that it is the best work I have seen of the kind.

Teacher of the Select School, Vienna, N. Y.

Copy of a letter from the Rev. I. S. Spencer, formerly Principal of the Canandaigua Academy, BROOKLYN, May 19, 1836.

Mr. Morse:
Sir—I have very carefully examined "The American Class-Reader," by "GEORGE WILSON," and have no hesitation in expressing my opinion of its excellence. I consider it the best work, for the purpose for which it was designed, that I have ever seen. I am confident it will be found eminently beneficial both to Teachers and Pupils; and cannot but assist its immediate adoption in our Academies and Schools.

I. S. SPENCER.

FIRE!! FIRE!! FIRE!!!—The Kalamazoo Mutual Insurance Company, incorporated in 1834, is prepared to execute policies for any amount, for the purpose of insurance against fire. To that part of the community who have never witnessed the result of the mutual insurance system, it may be necessary to say, that wherever it has been adopted, it has invariably succeeded beyond the sanguine anticipations of its friends. When it is considered that the institution is, in effect, but a voluntary association of individuals, pledged to bear each other's losses in just and equitable proportions—that no combination of wealth or money-making scheme can possibly influence its operations or divert it from its legitimate and proper course, a prudent and common foresight will prompt to an immediate connection with it.

That facilities for becoming members of the association may be within the reach of every person, agents are or will be appointed in all the principal towns and villages in the state, to whom application may be made whenever insurance is required. A prompt and ready attention to duty, on the part of agents, will uniformly be expected, as upon this alone depends in a great degree the prosperity and success of the company. They are also desired to spread useful and correct information relative to the nature, prospects and operations of the institution as will promote its interests and give the public mind a full and correct understanding on the subject.

Persons are requested to forward the names of responsible persons to be received as agents in towns where appointments have not already been made. The following are some of the agents of the company:
J. M. Howard, Detroit; A. Felch, Monroe; R. Manning, P. Darrow, Pontiac; A. N. Hart, Lapeer; Wm. R. Thompson, Ann Arbor; Daniel Coleman, Jacksonburgh; C. D.
